MISTRESS OF NIGGER TENT

FROM ST. AUGUSTINE, FLORIDA, TO "NIGGER TENT, IN CALIF., IN THE EARLY 50'S.

(By Zoe Tredennick)

As the "character" of my story has always had her—"best side"—told I beg the privilege of telling her "best side". As the old saying goes: "There is the best in the worst of us, And the worst in the best of us."

Early in 1840 in St. Agustine a baby girl was born into one of the old southern Spanish families where beauties had reigned before her; so of course a bright future was pictured for this wee one.

Alas! At the age of fourteen, while on the street listening to the ever facinating "organ grinder" grind out his tunes, and watching the antics of the little monkey, this little beauty was kidnapped and taken on board a sailing vessel bound for San Francisco. After a long tiresome journey around Cape Horn, at last they reached San Francisco where this Italian organ grinder married her.

Each day he took her, the organ and the monkey out on the streets to earn their living. This whole situation, so terrible and distasteful to her that one day in the absence of her husband she killed the monkey—so ended that.

They then left for the mining section and located one of the numerous road houses, "Nigger Tent," between Downeyville and Marysville, which is said to have been the rendevouz of a notorious band of robbers and murders. How much my "character" aided them has been puzzling me, for knowing of all her kind deeds during her life, I doubt the exaggerated tales of her offenses.

Early in 1882 a party, members of my family, were delayed in their slow journey to Forest City—not tire trouble, but due to the weariness of their animals drawing them and their belongings—so it was necessary to stay all night at "Nigger Tent." The mother of that traveling group wept and begged to go on, but when it was too late to travel further she decided to be brave. now, when they drew up to the long building the "mistress of Nigger Tent came to greet the lady and her children. Such a welcome, such hospitality, and such a gracious hostess convincing this tired, lonely mother that she and her babies had found a haven of rest. As the oldest of that group of children tells me this story she laughs, as shehad heard her mother cry, and child-like, thought it must be dreadful, and lay awake most of the night listening to tht chains of the horses halters and their discontented pawing until it was a relief to hear the teamsters astir at the very early hours when they began their long day's labor.

As there were a number of large freight teams stopping in the corral it was a busy morning; yet in the hustle and bustle of it all, we were given a farewell and blessing from a "lady born" and the old "Organ Grinder."

The "Old Organ Grinder" passed away before the "Mistress of Nigger Tent did. The good old hydraulic mining days were over and the people moved to the larger cities to find the newer occupations. "Nigger Tent" became as lonely and as old as its mistress. Just before her death she sent the monkey's clothes to a younger daughter of that mother for doll clothes—even the little cap and its feather; two dresses—one a light brown velvet with tiny pink rosebuds in it, and the other a dark brown trimmed in red—all in perfect condition.

Why had she kept those for fifty years? Perhaps she regretted killing that innocent little monkey —and that regret kept her from committing deeds sh had always been accused of. I hope so.

GOLDEN FLEECE MINE HAS BEEN LEASED

J. T. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. D. Murnck have leased the Golden Fleece, better known as the Old Harrison French Placers, to Mr. P. Monagan and George Lance.

Up to the time operations ceased, the hydraulic method of mining was used. There are six and one-half acres in the claims, but since hydraulic mining ceased only one claim was considered rich enough to be worked out and operations now contemplated will be concentrated on this one claim.

One nugget valued at $97.00 was taken from this claim, but cucumber seed gold has been the major returns for the work.

Mr. Monaghan and Mr. Lance plan to sink a shaft 60 feet deep, following bed rock, to realize heavy nuggets.

The gravel is 100 feet deep and plans are in operation to pump out the water from the shaft and store it in reservoirs or large tanks to be used in the summer washing. There is plenty of water for winter washing of gold, which pays from the grass roots down.

PUBLISHER RECOVERS $610 DAMAGES FROM NEGLIGENT PROMOTER

What is said to be the first law suit of its kind ever filed in this state was that of Walter Waynflete, former publisher of the Truckee Republican, against R. D. Landry, a subscription campaign promoter, which was heard by Judge Raglan Tuttle in the Superior Court last Monday week.

The complaint, drawn by Oscar E. Winburn, Grass valley attorney, set forth that about a year ago Landry had contracted with Waynflete to put on a subscription campaign for the Republican. Many prizes, including a Buick sedan, electric stove, radio and a diamond ring, were promised to the successful contestants.

After about four weeks of the campaign it was found that less than a thousand dollars had been collected. The prizes which had been promised would cost about two thousand dollars, and it was evident that the campaign was not only a failure but that the publisher was due for a financial loss.

It was alleged that the campaign promoter quit the campaign and left the publisher, to get out of the difficulty as best he could. Wynflete called a meeting of the contestants and effected a compromise which eliminated the automobile as a prize. The other prizes were awarded.

Then the publisher brought suit against the promoter for damages. Judge Tuttle decided that the publisher was entitled to recover the sum of $610 and costs, and that the promoter was to blame for the disasterous ending of the subscription campaign.

Lynne Kelley, of Nilon, Hennessey and Kelley, represented the defendant at the trial.

LEGISLATURE SHOULD FIX ALL SALARIES OF EMPLOYES

Proposition No. 3, giving the state legislature the power to fix all salaries, has been endorsed for passage by the voters of California at the November general election by California Taxpayers' association. An analysis of the provision sof the proposition, as made by the association, follows:

This amendment would remove from the constitution the fixing of salaries of the seretary of state, state controller, treasurer, attorney-general and surveyor-general, and would empower the legislature to fix the salaries of these officers. It would also empower the legislature at its discretion to abolish the office of surveyor-general.

The Taxpayers' association favors this amendment because it believes that these state offices are so important as to warrant larger salaries than are now paid. The salaries received by these officers were fixed by the Constitutional Convention of 1879. Salaries should be fixed to meet current economic conditions and not fixed on a basis of conditions sixty years ago. This amendment will enable the legislature to fix these salaries in accordance with present day economic conditions.

ELKS AND LADIES ENJOY ROAST VENISON DINNER

The Elks home was the scene of a very enjoyable social gathering on Thursday evening, when a group numbering one hundred, consisting of Elks and their ladies, dined together and afterwards spent several hours dancing.

The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and the dinner, served by the officers, members of the house committee and volunteer helpers, elicited much favorable comment, especially the venison roasted in dutch ovens by Sheriff George R. Carter.

Exalted Ruler H. A. Curnow, acted as toast master and called upon various non resident Elks for remarks. "Scotty" Alan, now a resident of Nevada county made the opening speech, following him, were Assemblyman Jerry Seawell, of Roseville, F. A. Abrogast, Oakland, Judge Nelon and S. Lee Leiter, the latter welcoming the guests in the name of the house committee and in the name of P. G. Scadden, its president, who is now ill and unable to attend.

Taken as a whole the affair was one of the most pleasant of the season.

STILLS ARE THE LEAST OF HENRY'S WORRIES

Perhaps the most consistent prohibitionist in the United States is Henry Ford. He refused to see the light even with a microscope

In his home town there is more illicit booze than in any town in the United States. Detroit is the nucleus for the distributin of booze throughout the central states and right under Henry Ford's nose he cannot see the booze.

Here is an item that might enlighten him if he were at home:

Detroit, Sept. 30.—Police raided tonight what was described as the biggest still ever found in Detroit since the 18th amendment went into effect. They stated that equipment and liquors seized in the place were valued at $1,000,000.

The distillery was located in an abandoned firehouse at Cass and Amsterdam avenues, near the center of the uptown business district.

As the police detachment crashed its way through a maze of of partitions, using axes, operators of the place escaped from rear windows, using rope ladders, the police said.

The raiders found 80,000 gallons of grain mash in vats and 20,000 gallons of grain alcohol in kegs.

PARAMONT MINE NEAR SIERRA CITY TO REOPEN

Indirect word has reached this office that Ross F. Taylor, has just finished surveying the Paramount mining properties near Sierra City, and preparations are going forward for expensive piping operations which will extend the work south, east and west of the present site.

While most of the gold taken from the Paramount has been coarse gold, a nugget valued at $124.00 was removed sevral years ago and one valued at $60 more recently.

The extensive gravel deposit, which is probably an extension of the old "Thousand to One" channel, will be mined on a large scale under directions of Superintendent Vandervoort who is considered one of the best hydraulic miners in this section, and predicts that the Paramount will develop into Sierra county's largest hydraulic mine.

TO OUR READERS AND FRIENDS.

Though The Nugget's world may be small, according to the rule by which great things are measured, yet we, after six week's of struggle with new enviroment,, new subjects to write about, and an entirely new set of faces about us, feel that we are going to weather the storm and find safe harbor.

The subject of mines and mining was at first like a Chinese puzzle to us as we didn't know a stope from a tunnel, or a piece of quartz from a chunk of shale. The thought of going down into the ground, even though there was gold shining at the bottom, made us shudder and grow cold. Now, however, we are learning rapidly and day by day finding more and more how important a place mining has in this wide world and how very true it is that gold, alone, is the one and only real standard by which values are estimated.

Gold has been the lure which has "made" and "broke" many millions. Gold is a gift of nature, but like many other gifts in prospect, is mighty hard to get, and harder to keep after one does get it and as time passes the more remote and difficult of access are its places of hiding.

The mining industry since its first inception has never been at a standstill. There may have been slack times and the weary prospector may have caught fleeting glimpses of the gaunt wolf of want, but through it all, wars, famine, pestilence and pitiful poverty and want the mining of gold as an industry has never ceased and today, taken as a whole according to the statisticians, it pays 54 percent of all the freight on the railroads amounting to an investment of over twelve billions of dollars; 22 percent of our federal income; and three hundred and fifty millions every year for equipment and supplies and at no time in the history of the world has the mining industry shown more activity than at the present time, and at no time has greater returns been realized.

The lonely prospector, the lonely miner delving like a mole under ground, deserves the greatest credit of all, and of all soldiers of industry no class of laborers should stand higher in the estimationof the people of the world than those who have chosen to spend their lives underground in the interest of finance and furtherance of prosperity, not only to themselves, but to the world in general.

Nevada City is essentially a mining town and the prosperity of the mines in this district means the prosperity of the city and every individual in it. It is a well known fact that mining in this district is on the up grade and the outlook for the future is bright indeed. Time was when this city was one of the best known and most talked of mining centers in the United States and who knows that those times may not again return to us and this city once more become the Mecca of the investor and the searcher for natures' hidden riches.

To those who have been keeping in close contact with the financial affairs of the world know the available gold supply of the world is slowly but surely growing smaller and smaller and that the time is rapidly approaching when a new and higher standard will have to be placed on this precious metal by the governments of world powers. In fact, it was this very thing that caused France, only a few short weeks ago to raid the treasuries of the world for gold. She purchased millions of the yellow metal and stored it away in her vaults against the time soon coming when a higher valuation will have to be placed on this metal. England, Austria and Germany have already made abortive assays at prodding Uncle Sam into holding a world conference for this purpose. And now what does that mean to old mining camps like Nevada City? It will mean the opening up of long unused properties and the developing of low grade properties that will scarcely pay at present with gold at the present price per ounce, but with raised or increased valuation of gold per ounce will set every one of them to work once more and the hills surrounding such camps will become a hive of industry. And this is not a dream of the far future. It is a coming reality.

WHY NEVADA CITY NEEDS FOOTBALL

Nevada City High School has but one fundamental sport—basketball. The reason other sports are lacking is because of lack of equipment. Every one says, "costs too much for equipment." It can't cost so very much or schools smaller than ours couldn't have it. If, then, equipment is the cause, let's get going and get some for the most popular sport of high schools and colleges everywhere today—football.

Football is a game requiring skill and foresightedness. It develops growing bodies, puts zest and interest in school life. Everyone knows that if a person likes doing a thing how much better the thing is done, be it work or play.

Everybody is clamoring for football, other schools smaller than ours have it, why can't we?

Boys to participate in any sport, must make non-objectionable grades or marks in their other studies, so, in wanting to play football, all boys' grades would be higher, an extra honor for the school, besides the honor of winning the football games played.

Nevada City is fast coming to the top again, due to improvements in last year's series of basketball games; give er a double chance for rejustification! If she makes good in football, think of the honor and respect to go to the school and consequently the town. I say, make good because no one has any idea she will lose. She can't! Give her a chance to show what she can do!

16TH RADIUM VICTIM

East Orange, N. J.—The death of Mrs. Anna Stasi was the sixteenth fatality traced directly to radium poson. In 1918 a watch company employed a force of 116 women and girls to paint watch and clock dials with radium paint. Soon sickness developed among these workers and at last scientists traced the illness, which was proving fatal to many of the workers directly to the radium paint they were using. The workers had the habit of moistening the tip of their brushes with the end of their tongue and from this source the poison entered their systems. The company has been sued by several of the former workers and are now in court fighting heavy damage cases.

GET YOUR PINK SLIP, WHEN BUYING A CAR

Prospective purchasers of motor vehicles were urged today by the dovision of motor vehicles to guard themselves against fraud by remembering that the State of California issues a certificate of title (pink)slip which should be demanded by the purchaser if the car is sold to him by an induividual.

Frequently, the division's warning stated, the purchaser of the car pays a large sum to the individual selling it in the mistaken belief that he is to become the legal owner, but fails to demand the certificate of title.

Too late he discovers that he has been "bilked" because the seller has disappeared. He then lears that the man who sold him the car did not own it and that some other person or firm had a prior claim.

The division's warning stated that the pink slip certificate constitutes the sole evidence of ownership and is indispensible as a deed to a piece of real estate.

In the event the purchaser buys his car from a registered new or used car dealer an dpay scash or its equivalent, the dealer is required to report the sale to the Division and the purchaser should receive his certificate of title (pink slip) within fifteen days after the deal has been consummated. If he does not receive it he should notify the Division, giving the license and motor number of the car he purchased.

Upon purchasing a car from an individual who is the legal owner the purchaser should receive the pink slip from the seller properly signed in the space provided. He should send thi sand the certificate of registration at once to the Devision together with a fee of one dollar to cover the transfer. New certificates will then be issued and returned to him.

"The certificate of title is your protection" said the Division's warning. "Demand it when you purchase a car and if the seller does not have it and is not the legal owner, get in touch with the legal owner and find out the status of the vehicle before completing the deal."

DEMOCRATS CANT HAVE ALL THE FUN WITH 18TH AM'D'T

The Republican state convention in session last week at Albany, N. Y., inserted a plank in their platform urgiug the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. This action was not unexpected as Charles H. Tuttle, who is expected to be the Republican nominee for governor on the Republican ticket had previously made substantially the same declaration that the convention has made. The plank calls for a federal amendment to the constitution to prevent the return of the saloon and was adopted by a vote of 39 to 12.

INDIANS HELD A BIG CELEBRATION OCT. 5

Whites Will Also Hold Big Dance, Followed by Barbecue on the 5 At Nashville.

The Indians of California have chosen three attorneys to assume the responsibilities of presenting to the Court of Claims their various claims for things promised in treaties made with them by the Federal government 78 years ago. Mr. James M. Hanley is one of these attorneys. Mr. Hanley was a former member of the state legislatufe and is one of the best known attorneys in the state. His practice in state and federal courts has been marked with unusual success. His sincerity, earnestness, and acumen, together with his pleasing personality, has made its favorable impression upon courts and juries. His general experience qualifies him to ably represent the Indians of this state in their present fight to gain a just settlement of lands and various other things promised the Indians in the 18 treaties made with them in 1851-52.

GOVERNMENT BUYS THE OLD GUTENBERG BIBLE FROM AUSTRA

At last the question of who is to own and have possession of the old Gutenberg Bible, the oldest Bible, or for that matter the oldest book, ever printed from moveable type. For a great many years it has been a mooted question as to what nation should really have the ownership of this noted and priceless book in their possession. Austria has always had the Bible and of course laid claim to ownership.

The United States as being first among all natins in the use of Gutenberg invention of moveable type laid claim to the book as did England and other countries. Uncle Sam has at last settled the question by buying Austra's right to the book and this relic of all relics will now and forever more rest in peace in the archives of the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C.

This book has been in the posession of the monks at St. Paul Monastery, near Carintha, Austra, for the past five hundred years'

FRENCH CORRAL

Since our last writing the blessing of a splendid rain has come to this section and we now look forward to green fields with plenty of feed for stock, some cattle have already been driven down to the foothills.

The camp stew held at Sweetland Grove last Sunday week was well attended considering the weather conditions. The downpour came at the dinner hour, and although welcome in many ways, was certainly untimely. Umbrellas and overcoats were in demand. Despite all this, all seemed to be good natured and happy, and some thought the rain quite appropriate as the affair was for the Water Association.

Rev. Frank O'Reilly held services in Birchville, Sunday. He was accompanied by Gerald Hogan.

—X—

STORM IN SIERRAS BLOCK PASS AND IMPERILS ACTORS

The rain storm of last week that swept the Sacramento valley and gave the whole country a pretty thorough wetting down, did not confine itself to the low lands but developed into a real winter snow storm among the higher reaches of the Sierras. In Nevada City and surrounding country the rain was only a delightful downpoour of summer wetness and was hailed with delight by everybody. However, farther up in the high hills it was different.

Up in the Sierra pass a company of 160 movie actors were busily engaged taking scenes for a forthcoming production, when the storm came along and old Boras quickly demonstrated that he was no respector of persons. The snow broke down their tents and the rain and wind destroyed the work already done and the entire company had to migrate to lower levels for safety.

The rain in this city was copious and received with much pleasure, as the good done far offset any damage that may have resulted from the spoiling of fruit on trees or in the drying pans of the fruit ranches down in the valley.

PERMANENT REGISTRATION OF VOTERS TO BE DESIRED

In endorsing the passage by the voters of California at the November general election of Proposition No. 14 relative to the permanent registration of voters, California Taxpayers' association makes the following analysis of the proposition:

This initiative act is intended to make the registration of voters permanent until canceled by the voter's request or on his death, removal, insanity, conviction of felony or by judgment.

It provides that on January 1 of odd years, registration of all electors not voting at the last preceeding August primaries or November general election shall be cancelled.

The amendment requires that notice of such cancellation be mailed to each person ten days prior to the close of registration for any subsequent election. The person must reregister before voting.

The effect of the adoption of this proposal would be to obviate the trouble and expense of working out a complete new register of voters each two years.

The act is sponsored by the registration and election of officials generally. This proposal will cut down the cost of registration.

STOLEN VALUABLES HIDDEN IN TELEPHONE BELL BOX

In August, 1921, a Cleveland (O.) plant man was dispatched to remove the telephone from a deserted real estate office in Rocky River Village. When the bell box was opened, an envelope fell out. It contained negotiable bonds worth $30,000 which had been hidden there by thieves. The bonds had been sold just two days before, and the owner was not aware of the robbery and their disappearance until notified by the police who had been called immediately

TEX CROCKETT, THE RODEO STAR, DIES

Eleven years of suffering has ended the life of the noted Tex Crockett, world war veteran and twice world champion rodeo performer.

'Tex' as he was known throughout every county in this state as well as all up and down the Pacific coast, died at Fitzsimons Hospital Monday of last week as the result of an illness contracted during the war.

His last ride was at Cheyenne, Wyoming in 1919, when he was a star performer at the Frontier Days celebration. In 1914 he became the world champion bulldogger by conquoring a lunging 1,100 pound steer at Bakersfield, this state. He made his home at Sacramento for several years and and many people in and around Nevada City knew and will remember 'Tex' as he had many friends in this county.

OH—HIS BEARIN'S!

In a Montrose school recently a little girl informed her teacher that an airman was flying over Montrose late the night before.

DAVIS MAY GET BEE EXPERIMENT STATION

Davis, Sept. 30.— Davis may be selected by the United States department of Agriculture for the new bee keeping field laboratory which is to be established on the Pacific coast.

There are but two such laboratories in the United States, one at Laramie, Wyoming for the inter-mountain states, and one at Baton Rouge, La., for the southern states.

The department has appropriated $15,000 biennially for the upkeep of such a project for the states of Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona and California.

Rumors came from Berkeley that Davis has been selected as the site of the Pacific coast laboratory.

Fair Beauties

For centuries the ideal of feminine loveliness was the blond. The angels in the Christian calendar, as well as the goddesses of Roman and Greek mythology, were all depicted as blue-eyed and light-haired. So a beautiful woman was known as a "fair" woman. We find repeatedly in old books such expressions as "dark and ugly," "fair-haired and beautiful," and "plain in spite of her light complexion," showing quite clearly that once upon a time it was rather difficult for a brunette to be rated as of first-class beauty.

Times have changed. To be beautiful women no longer need be fair.

REASONS FOR OPPOSING AMENDMENT NO. 21

Strong opposition to constitutional amendment No. 21 upon the November ballot on the ground that the scheme endangers the tax system of the state was voiced today by a state-wide committee of farmers and business men.

Heading the committee against the proposed amendment is A. C. Hardison of Santa Paula, ex-president of the California Farm Bureau Federation. Other officers are A. Ahlf of Colusa, ex-president of the California Farm Bureau Federation; George R. Harrison, of Saratoga, president of the California Farmers Union; J. E. Wherrell of Riverside, ex-president o fthe Riverside County Farm Bureau and S. S. Knight, president of the Poultry Keepers Association of Petaluma, executive secretary.

Charging that the amendment was passed hastily through the legislature in the closing days of the last session, the committee classes it as a "political patch work" for the purpose of making "refunds" of state taxes to certain counties without providing safe and equitable means of raising the money.

Under the provisions of the amendment, it is pointed out, the legislature may vote money from the state treasury to any county found by it to have lost revenues by the "withdrawal from local taxation of property taxed for state purposes."

Furthermore it is left to the legislature and the state department of finance to decide what counties have lost revenue, it was stated. This means throwing the tax funds into a "log-rolling" mess, according to the state-wide committee against the measure. Combinations will be made it is charged, to "give state money to favored counties.

David P. Barrows, former president of the University of California, has filed an argument against Amendment 21 with the secretary of state. This argument, which will go out to all voters with their sample ballots, describes the amendment as "inopportune and ill advised" and one tthat "should be rejected by the people of the state."

The committee against the amendment cites the Califoria Far mBureau Federation, the California State California State Grange, the California Taxpayers' Association and other outstanding organizations as being opposed to the measure.

BLUE'S AVERAGE BATTING RECORD OF THE SEASON

Average is Far Above That of Town Clubs of Similar Size and Age.

With the active baseball season here closed, the first contribution of the statistician of the Nevada City Blues for hot stove league discussion, deals with the batting and pitching averages of the individual members of the club.

The official dope sheet discloses that the players all had a good season with the hickory limb. Macari leads the hitters who have stood at bat thirty or more times with an average of .597. Hoskins leads in the number of hits made during the season with 36 safeties for the twenty games in which he participated. He also rates the lead in making doubles, having swatted the ball fourteen timse for a two base hit. Tamblyn and Fisher are the Babe Ruth-Hack Wilson combination of the locals, each having scored three home runs. Lloyd White was also a heavy gun, having accumulated nine triples. Bill Tamblyn was the artist at "hitting 'em where they ain't," having planted the ball safely for a total of twenty-six singles. Tamblyn also showed the fleetest pair of ankles in the outfit, having gotten away with a total of 32 stolen bases.

On the defense side of the picture, the two pitchers who performed in all but one game were Spencer White and Hoskins. White was the leading hurler of the club, having accounted for eight victories and was charged with three defeats. Hoskins came with six wins and three losses. When it came to crossing the batters with a third strike, both pitchers were evidently crafty, White striking out 103 batters and Hoskins accounting for 96 of the enemy by the whiffing route. Hoskins is chargeable with an average of but 2.33 runs per game and White allowed an average of 3.80 runs a game.

The batting average for the team are as follows:

Player	At Bat	Hits	Pct
Wasley, Gus	8	6	.750
Macari, D.	47	28	.597
White, L.	53	27	.510

HORSE SAT ON MAN

Detroit.—As a "good joke" Roland Beruchman, 22, started to take a ride on a policeman's horse, standing idle in an alley. The horse carried him a few feet, but suddenly pivoted and threw him to the ground. The animal then sat on him until the arrival of his master.

FORECAST OF COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS

The forthcoming session of congress will rock with investigations and resound with demands for legislation to aid this and aid that and aid most everything and everybody at the short session that will soon convene.

In both the senate and the house the outlook is for a tug of war over farm relief. The federal farm board's policies will come up for examination. Drastic changes in the Farm Board act will be demanded.

The flurry over Russian "short" selling of wheat has foocused attention on the Chicago Board of Trade and western senators indicate their intentions to drive for legislation to further regulate the wheat pit so as to curb wheat manipulation.

One bill by Senator Caraway of Arkansas, seeks to stop short selling on all grain and cotton exchanges.

Senator Nye, of North Dakota wants an investigation of what he claims to be a conspiracy of grain dealers and chamber of commerce people to beat down prices and so discredit the work of the Farm Board.

Senator Oddie, of Nevada is drafting a bill to shut out all imports of Russian manganese, lumber, wood pulp, gelatine, glue and other products.

In this connection the report of the Fish committee investigating Communisic activities also will be laid before congress.

Senator Couzens of Michigan proposes to push his investigation of the power trust, with a view to obtaining close federal regulation of interstate commerce in electrical energy.

The house interstate commerce committee will continue its investigation of railroad holding companies and investment trusts, with a view to recommending legislation for federal control. Such legislation has been asked by the Interstate Commerce commission, which assert that the investment trusts are interfering with the government's railroad consolidation program.

A heated controversy over post office leases is in the offing. Rumbling of scandal in leases were heard at the last session of congress and appointment of the Blaine senatorial committee to investigate resulted.

Naval affairs committee of the senate and house will make investigations to determine the needs of the navy in the light of the London naval pact. There will be a major fight over naval appropriations with which to build new ships.
